Your outstanding Real Time Information Return; act now to minimise or avoid penalties

We need you to file a Full Payment Submission (FPS) each time you make a payment to your employee(s).

We may already have charged you a penalty* if you haven't filed an FPS for your employee(s) detailing their final normal payday for 2013-14.

You'll need to act now, by filing an Earlier Year Update (EYU) straightaway, to stop the penalty* increasing.

If you have already filed your return online, please check you have filed it correctly. For example, if you've sent the return in test mode rather than in live mode, you'll have got an acknowledgement from us but we won't have updated your employer record. You'll need to send us the return again using live mode.

If you don't need to file a return you'll need to tell us now by filing an Employer Payment Summary (EPS).

For more information, go to hmrc.gov.uk/latereporting

If you have an agent, please show this letter to them.

- *The penalty is £100 for every 50 (or fewer) employees, for each month (or part month) your return is late. When you file your return we'll send you a penalty calculation up to the date we got your return.
- If your return is still outstanding we'll write to you again in:
- September (covering four months, that is a £400 penalty)
- · January (covering another four months) and
- May (covering an additional four months, that is a minimum £1,200 penalty in total.)
